Special Lectures! Begin June 9

Miss Mary Pinnell of Kansas City
Discusses Place of Project Method in Teaching.

Miss Mary Pinnell, Primary-Kindergarten Supervisor of the Kansas City Public Schools lectured to the general assembly, to the classes in Modern Problems in Education 161, and classes in Special Methods 61a, 62a, and 102a, June 9-11.

Miss Pinnell's topic for discussion was the place of the project method in teaching. She outlined the general changes in education and the necessity of such changes; also the principles by which one may judge the project method or any methods employed in teaching.

The theory and practice of the project method is not new to the students of the College. This method accomplishes the social and moral aims of education and is based upon psychology.

Miss Pinnell emphasized the fact that the school must keep the child physically fit; mentally alert; develop the attitude of co-operation, and fix habits of right living; train in ability to earn a living; and for safeguard in leisure hours develop wholesome interests.

Seven points which tend to make education more scientific, and teaching a profession were outlined by Miss Pinnell:

1. Normals should spend more time on developing fundamental principles rather than technique of teaching.
2. Every primary teacher should have knowledge and practice in kindergarten; likewise, every kindergarten teacher have knowledge and practice in primary work.
3. Kindergarten and primary teacher should be supervised by one who has a super-vision of both primary and kindergarten work.
4. Salary schedule thruout the school on same basis provided hours of work and training equal.
5. Basis for promotion from kindergarten to primary should be on intelligence instead of on age.
6. Make activities, not books, center of work.
7. Teacher report work accomplished that the foundation may be known by teacher of succeeding grade.

"Morality is the intelligent choice by an individual of habits of action"

Alumni Association Elect Officers for Ensuing Year.

Lowell L. Livengood was elected president of the Alumni Association at the annual business meeting preceding the banquet at the Christian church, Tuesday evening, June 8. The other officers elected are Lucile Holmes, vice-president and Cassie Abshire, secretary-treasurer. The historian was left to appointment by the president, assisted by Miss Winn, at the beginning of the school year in the fall. The Association also voted unanimously to have a banquet again next year.

Mattie Dykes as vice-president of the S. T. C. Alumni Association, acted as toast-mistress at the banquet. Mr. C. D. Kutschinski played a violin solo, after which Miss Mildred Miller gave the challenge of the College to its Alumni—to help bring Missouri to the front in education by vitalizing the work of our schools, both in the rural communities and in town. Frances Holliday responded by telling what had been done along this line by some of the alumni, and encouraging others to put forth every effort to accept this challenge fully.

President Richardson, in telling As He Likes It, said that first of all he liked the people of our College—the alumni, then told of some of the things he had liked in the past—and of some which had not been as he likes—and then explained some of the things he would like in the future.

In Reminiscences, Harriet Van Buren, spoke of the many changes that had taken place in the school during its lifetime.

Mr. Egbert Jennings supplemented her remarks and added some excellent suggestions for alumni. On the Road to aid in building up our College and in helping our district. Miss Margaret James sang a solo, which was followed by advice from Miss Winn as to the duty of Alumni to the Association.

The music furnished during the banquet by the College orchestra was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Several of our college students enjoyed a picnic on the banks of the 102 River, Sunday afternoon, June 6. The bunch was chaperoned by Myrtle McPherron and Attorney M. C. Pangburn of Gallatin. Those attending were: Bess and Mary Martin, Lyda Trosper, Iva Hellam, Virginia Pearl Cole, "Mike" Lahr, Leo Kirsch, Ray O'Grady, Leland McKee and Claude Hornbuckle.

Enrollment Surpasses 1919—Special Lectures Provided.

The enrollment has gone beyond the approximated number given in our last regular edition. It has already reached the 450 mark and as other students are enrolling right along and will continue to do so for some time, these numbers will be enlarged. This is a greater number than the last summer enrollment gave.

The special lectures for the summer session have begun. Miss Mary E. Pinnell, primary and kindergarten supervisor, Kansas City, Mo., was here for three days last week. From here Miss Pinnell went to New York to instruct in Teachers College.

Dr. Charters, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburg, Pa., came day before yesterday and will remain for the week.

County Superintendent Carl O. Williams was here Monday and Tuesday, June 14, 15.

Fine Arts Dep't Displays Work

The Display is Noteworthy for its Artistic Merit and its Very Practical Significance.

The annual exhibit of the Department of Fine Arts was held this year on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday of Commencement week on the fourth floor in the north studio which has recently been redecorated. There was also a partial display in the south corridor on the second floor.

All of the work on display was the work of students, as the department holds as a principle that all designs must not only be individual but also original. The display is noteworthy for its artistic merit and practical significance, and both teachers and students are to be congratulated upon their work.

A part of the year's accomplishment in applied designs and book-binding and public school methods in art was arranged on tables in the studio. This display also included waste-baskets, glove and handkerchief boxes, and desk sets. Useful and attractive luncheon sets consisting of center, plate and tumbler pieces made from Sanitas were shown, and with them beautiful enameled reed baskets decorated with stenciled designs. This display attracted especial attention.

The classes which have studied bookbinding showed in their work the history of making book covers from the simple pierced binding such as is still used by the Japanese, through the partially sewed Florentine book of the Middle Ages to the ordinary commercial book of the present day.

The Advertisements in commercial art, the posters in ink and in cut paper, especially those for "Better Schools for Missouri," for "Bird Protection," and for "City Improvement" attracted much attention as did the house plans.

Classes in Drawing and Design had much of interest on exhibition in the way of stenciled table runners and pillow-tops, lamp shades, carefully lettered quotations, and room interiors in perspective.

The entire art display was attractive and well arranged. Many students after studying this display have resolved to enter the art classes.

Grace Pugh and James Evans were married at Savannah, Thursday, June 10.

Out-of-State.

A Founders day commemoration was held at Idaho College for the 29th anniversary of the College. The address of welcome was given by Howard Packenham of class '20, response by Robert McCormick of Class '15.

The children were taught the commercial side of art. Posters were made for advertising. A study was made of house plans and interior decoration. Cut paper was used to teach design, space and color.

The painted flower pots, bottles and other objects were all related to school problems or problems the children found at home.

Mabel Colvin of Elmo visited Grace Calfee during commencement.

SPECIAL LECTURES

for the good of the group" was the theme of the lecture to the general assembly. Special stress was placed upon the ideas expressed in the words "intelligent," "habits," and "good of the group," as used in the definition of morality. Intelligence is necessary in determining the proper moral response to a situation. There is no instinct of morality but there are many instincts contributing to morality. Not prayer and faith alone bring morality but the nervous system must be an ally. The proper habits must be established. Morality is active, and habitual.

Morality may be made active and habitual thru the discipline, the social conditions of the school, and thru every subject taught. Teachers consider marks and grades but must not neglect the moral character for "what doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his own soul."

Miss Pinnell gave a lecture about the work of the kindergarten-primary. The discussion centered about three main divisions: Nature of the child from 4-7 years of age; what we hope to accomplish for the child at this age, and the method of action.

The series of lectures closed June 11 with a discussion of the laws of memory and learning, followed by lantern slides illustrating the project method.

If you attended the Eurekan meeting last Thursday, you are aware that the "pep" germ is very much alive at N. W. M. S. T. C. There is strong indication, judging from the trend of affairs during the business meeting that the disease "pep"—will spread thru the entire school with greater force than ever before felt.

Excelsior.

As Flag Day was so near, the Excelsiors gave a program appropriate for it. Each one joined with the proper amount of spirit that made the hour interesting.

After the society sang "The Star Spangled Banner," Frances Holliday gave a reading, "The Flag" and Katie Weakley talked on the subject, "Why We Celebrate Flag Day," she closed by reciting "The Flag" by Nesbitt. Mr. Miller also gave us an excellent talk on the same topic and encouraged us greatly.

No one should miss a program of the kind. All are welcome, so come and get the benefit from occupying one of many vacant chairs.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

The Y. W. C. A. Met Wednesday, June 9. This was the first meeting held since the beginning of the new session. The attendance at this meeting gives promise for good association work this summer.

The devotional exercises were led by Miss Willis.

Miss Moore made a talk on "The Beauty of Little Things." She took as her text John I, 41-46, and stressed the beauty of the conception that Christ came from Nazareth, not from the Jewish capitol, Jerusalem. Miss Moore stated that much annoyance in the world had come from minimizing the conditions which Nazareth represents. She stated that in the natural world, examples are abundant, illustrating the beauty and significance of small things. She showed further that small beginnings bore beautiful fruits in literature in Chaucer, Bunyan and Burns. A solo by Miss Alexander completed the program.

The association urges that all students attend these meetings and also become members.

Mr. Miller Gave Address at Christian Church.

Mr. Miller delivered a memorial day address at the Christian Church, Sunday afternoon, May 30. His subject was: A Eulogy on Lincoln. Some very pleasing remarks were heard from many of the old soldiers who were present.

Mr. Miller made a very interesting talk Sunday evening. He spoke on the subject, "The Greatest Asset to Human Life is Religion." Mr. Miller also gave a reading from James Whitecomb Riley — "The Walton's Prayer," central thought of which was: "Better to live in the simplicity of life, than to be famous."

Eva Montgomery of St. Joseph arrived in Maryville June 1, and will attend the summer term of S. T. C.

OLD MISSOURI.

One hundred years ago our state was in its infancy. The enabling act, known as the Missouri Compromise, was passed by Congress March 6, 1820; the first state constitution was formed July 19, 1820; and the resolution to admit Missouri as a state was passed by the Senate December 12, 1820.

Missouri, having reached the centennial, is indeed an old state now, but Missouri's flag is very, very young. In October, 1908, the Daughters of the American Revolution, at their annual conference held in Columbia, discovered that Missouri had no state flag; so they immediately set about getting one. Mrs. Robert Barrett Oliver, of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, (afterwards elected State Regent of the D. A. R.) after months of investigation, study and research, designed the flag which, when introduced in our legislature by her nephew, Senator Arthur L. Oliver (now United States District Attorney for the Eastern Judicial District of Missouri), was adopted by our Legislature, and approved by the Governor March 22, 1913. Since that date it has been the official flag of Missouri.

Mr. Oliver, after consultation with his aunt, gave to the newspapers of the time a description of the flag. He said: "The design embraces all the colors of the national flag—red, white and blue—which recognizes that the State of Missouri is a part and parcel of the Federal Government. At the same time it represents the state as possessing a local independence, a local self-government, but in perfect harmony with the great national compact, as shown by the mingling of the colors, red, white and blue, on every side of it.

"The coat-of-arms of the state is in the center of the national colors and represents Missouri as she is—the geographical center of the nation. The twenty-four stars on the blue band encircling the coat-of-arms signifies that Missouri was the twenty-fourth state admitted into the Union of States. The blue in the flag signifies vigilance, permanency, and justice; the red, valor; and the white, purity.

"The crescent on the shield, in heraldry, represents the second son, so our crescent on this shield denotes that Missouri was the second state (Louisiana being the first) formed of the territory of the great Louisiana Purchase. The helmet of the coat-of-arms indicates enterprise, and hardi-hood, and signifies state-sovereignty. "The great grizzly bears are peculiarly appropriate to a state traversed by the Missouri River, and in our coat-of-arms and on this flag these bears signify the size of the state, the strength of the State and the courage of her people, and further, they represent protection to the state from invasion from every source.

"This design for a state flag represents that, while we, as a state, are independent and support ourselves as a state, we are also in perfect harmony with, and constitute an important part in, the support and maintenance of the national Government. The motto shows that the will of the people is the supreme law of the state. This flag, therefore, stands for something."

A Resume of M. A. Work.

In the manual arts department for the three terms, Fall, Winter and Spring, beginning Sept. 1919, the total enrollment numbered 136 students. This included the demonstration students. This makes an average of about 44 per day working in the shop. Much practical work was done. - The individual work includes 18 flower boxes, 2 leg rests, 8 fly traps, 2 library tables, 2 desks, 12 window screens for house, 1 study board, 5 section screens, 3 sewing boxes, 8 porch swings, 1 typewriter table and desk, 15 bird houses, 3 medicine cabinets, 7 milk benches, 2 trays, 1 candle sticks, 2 table lamps, 2 book chests, 2 bob sleds, 5 garden workers, 4 tool cabinets, 7 kites, 5 puzzles, 2 telephone receivers, 1 picture frame, 3 smoking stands, 2 cedar chests, 2 ring boards, 2 broom racks, 2 waist cabinets, 3 clock shelves, 4 ironing boards, 27 pedestals, 2 hall trees, 18 book racks, 1 graphophone cabinet, 4 work benches, 5 tabourets, 6 piano lamps, 8 magazine stands, jewel boxes, 3 coat hangers, 2 flower boxes and stands, 4 towel racks, 7 walking stilts, 7 cut candle sticks, 2 bread boards, 7 waste paper baskets.

Report Shows Interesting Facts.

Missouri ranks thirty-fourth in education, according to a recent report of the department of education of the Russell Sage Foundations, Dr. Leonard P. Ayres, director. According to this report, Montana ranks first, California second, Arizona third, New Jersey fourth, and Washington fifth. This report shows that the West has been rising educationally, while the East has been falling. Utah shows the greatest increase among all the states, while Maryland shows the greatest decrease. The nation, however, as a whole, has doubled in efficiency in the last fifty years, with a score of fifty-two on a basis of one hundred.

The most notable educational change during the past fifty years has been the increase in the high schools, however, most of the new pupils have been girls.

YOUR LIBERTY BOND.

The United States Government borrowed money from you to finance the war. You hold the Government's promise to pay you back. This promise is called a Liberty Bond or Victory Note. On this Bond is stated the conditions under which the Government borrowed the money from you.

For instance: If you hold a Bond of the Third Liberty Loan, it states that on April 15th and October 15th of each year until maturity, you will receive interest on the amount you paid for the Bond. Other issues bear other rates of interest and other maturity dates, all of which are clearly stated on the Bond.

Now, if you keep your Bond until the date when the Government pays you in full for it, you do not need to worry if, in the meantime, the price is low one day or high the next. You and Uncle Sam are living up to your agreement with each other, and neither will lose by it.

On the other hand, if you sell your Liberty Bond now, you will find that the man you sell it to will not give you a dollar for every dollar you paid for it. The price has been brought down because so many people are offering to sell their Bonds. If the market is flooded with tomatoes, you can buy them cheap, but if everyone is clamoring for tomatoes and there are few to be had, the price goes up. The same is true of Liberty Bonds. Short-sighted people are dumping them on the market, and wise ones are buying them.

The best advice that can be given to the owner of a Liberty Bond is this—Hold the bond you bought during the war; it is as safe and sound as the United States Government itself.

Buy as many more at the present low rate as you can afford. If you hold them to maturity, you are bound to make the difference between what they sell at now and their face value—You will also receive good interest on your investment.

Hold on to your Liberty Bonds and buy more.

Lena Tunnell, Flossie Tunnell and Augusta Quell spent June 5 and 6 at their homes in King City.

THE STROLLER.

The Stroller signed up for rather a heavy course for the summer session and has been so busy making a good impression on his new teachers that she hasn't had much time to stroll.

The day he enrolled she was waiting to ask the President about course 61b when Miss Dow entered the office. Miss Sewell took up her daily program and enrollment cards and went over to Miss Dow and asked her if she was entering College as a freshman. As President Richardson was very busy The Stroller decided to go and consult his advisor and come back. When she returned Miss Dow again came into the office and again Miss Sewell tried to help her fill out her program card. This occurred three times while The Stroller was waiting to get his program straightened out.

The other evening The Stroller with a bunch of pretty girls went out for a stroll. Since Dorothy Dale has finished astronomy the Stroller has been wondering who would study the stars with him. He has found several girls who are ready to take the third quarter of this work. Well, as they strolled along on Seventh Street they heard a voice repeating over and over "number fifty-one please." The Stroller recognized Jack Bland's voice and upon questioning his fellow roomers learned that Jack's nerves had recently received quite a shock. In following up the report that a certain pretty girl's phone number was fifty-one, he called and asked for a date. The lady who answered to the call very rudely hung up in Jack's ears. Since then Jack has been wondering, so has The Stroller.

After The Stroller and his pretty chaperones had studied the stars sufficiently they went down to Candyland. While they were eating sundaes one of the new lady members of the faculty came in and bought some candy. She wanted a box to put it in and while the Candyland man was searching for one a certain faculty bachelor entered. The lady turned to him and asked if he had any candy boxes. He blushing denied ever having had any dealings with candy boxes but the Stroller knows that is not true.

The Stroller heard this new Ford story of Miss Dykes. She had intended coming to Maryville on the train Monday evening but she drove over from King City in a Ford Monday morning and thus beat the annual summer school opening rain storm.

The Stroller understands that another member of the faculty also has a good Ford story.

County Superintendents, E. C. Duncan of Albany and E. Newton Carter of Bethany, who are students of the College left Friday afternoon to give examinations in their respective counties.

Priscilla Peck spent the week end at her home in Breckenridge.

DEPARTMENT NOTES.

Science.

Each student in the Nature Study class will carry out a project thruout the summer term. At the end of the term each student will be equipped with outlines and collections that will be useful in teaching.

Growing window boxes; growing seedlings; caring for insect cages; aquarium; and ornamental plots; and making a collection of ten types are among the projects that the class will conduct. Fifteen types of laboratory work will be carried out during the term.

Mathematics.

Four young ladies are taking the Surveying Course offered this semester by Dean Colbert. The members of the class are: Elsie Houston, Edna Turner, Ruth Farwell and Miss Helwig.

Dean Colbert has very large classes this summer in college algebra and trigonometry.

Public Speaking.

Mr. Miller has six classes this term: Extemporaneous Speaking; Fundamentals in Speaking; Argument and Exposition; Two classes in Secondary Oral Speech; Special Problems in Teaching Oral and Written English.

The last named class is one of especial value to teachers of English. There should be a larger enrollment.

Physical Education.

Miss McLeod who is a graduate of the Department of Hygiene of Wellesley College has taken charge of our classes in Health Control. She has planned a number of recreational activities for the summer. These are to be offered just for the enjoyment the students will get from them. She is in charge of all physical education work for women this summer. Miss McLeod had charge of Mr. Rice's classes last week.

History.

Mr. Cook reports that his two college American history classes have a large enrollment this summer. A special effort is being made to emphasize current history in these classes. Each member of the class has subscribed for the Outlook and the leading topics appearing in this magazine will be discussed in class.

The present World Reconstruction is being studied parallel with the study of the American Reconstruction period.

Manual Arts.

"A live wire" is the title applied to Mr. Glenn, head of our manual training department, by those who know the type of work he is doing. Twenty-five classes have enrolled in this department for the summer term.

The courses offered in this department are practical. One class is making concrete posts and foundations. Practical work is being done in the electrical wiring class where electrical wiring plain and fancy is being taught. One of the novel things this class is doing, is to wire all the rooms of the department, so that the automatic class bell will ring three minutes before the hour, in order to give the students time to clean up. The class in wood turning are making ten new benches for the vitalized agriculture class, a large glue bench for the new electric glue heater, a lumber rack to hold the scrap lumber, a large drawing desk for blue-printing and two clump-horses for holding pieces of wood.

The demand for manual training teachers is growing, as many high schools are adding this course. Manual training teachers often receive from twenty to forty dollars per month more than teachers in the other departments. This fact accounts partly for the large enrollment in this department.

Education.

Miss Brunner has made a change in methods course 62B. It formerly pertained to methods in upper grades.

It is now a Junior high school methods course, looking forward to development in that field.

English.

Jessie Murphy and Maye Gowney are new students in Contemporary drama. Pearl Moser and Naomi Brown enrolled in the Browning class this week.

The enrollment in composition 11 is also increasing. There are now three large sections, two taught by Mr. Burrows and one by Miss Moore. This summer there are four teachers who devote all their time to various phases of English and public speaking and four others who teach one or two English classes.

Graduating Class Finish Business.

The graduating class had a most successful year both as to finance and number of graduates. This year the proceeds of the play reached $230. This was larger than it has ever been. The class intends to pay for the class gift, also all expenses connected with the class, and then the remainder is to be divided between the Senior and Sophomore classes and they may do what they like with it.

The class play has been conceded by all who saw it the best and cleverest play given by any graduating class. As to the size of the class, there were more degree graduates than ever before and as to the sixty-hour graduates the same statement holds true.

Miss DeLuce Entertains.

Miss Olive DeLuce assisted by Miss Blanche Dow and Genova Wilfley entertained a number of guests June 6, in honor of Marjorie Wilfley. A three course luncheon was served. Covers were laid for the honor guest, Marjorie Wilfley, her mother, Mrs. George L. Wilfley, Ora Barmann, Eleanor Smith, Virginia Robinson and the three hostesses.

ALUMNI.

Nina Bent, B. S., 1918, has been elected to teach mechanical drawing in the Preparatory School at Boulder, Colorado. Nina is attending Chicago University this summer.

Marjorie Wilfley, B. S. 1917 and Warren H. Breit, B. S., 1917 were married June 7 at 3 o'clock. Rev. Snodgrass read the marriage service, the double ring ceremony being used.

Edna Bonewitz, 1917, has accepted a position in departmental work in the Topeka, Kansas public schools for the coming year, at a salary of $1550. Edna taught during the past year in St. Joseph, previous to that she taught in Maryville.

Mrs. Emmett F. Scott, 1909, celebrated her eighth anniversary, Sunday, June 6. She entertained the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Houston, son Lewis and daughter Anna; Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Houston and daughter Margaret Jean, of Burlington Junction. Also Mrs. Anna Anna Gillet, the grandmother of the Houstons, of Hiawatha, Kan.

Vivian Seat, B. S. 1919, who taught at Newpoint the past year, attended the commencement exercises. She was the guest of Elaine West.

Harvey Watson, 1914, visited the college one day last week. He has been teaching at Colfax, Washington the past year.

Mr. P. O. Landon, former head of the Maryville Conservatory of Music and of the department of music at the college, was in town June 9-10. While here Mr. Landon conferred the certificates upon the students who were graduated from the Conservatory. In the class were two of our students, Orpha Faris and Halsey Hooker.

Gladys Bookman left Monday, May 31 for Perry, Iowa, where she will take a short training course, before commencing her work as an advanced agent for the Jones Chautauqua Company.
